To the Reverend Mr. Colman, Boston.

[London, Eng.] Arrived after thirty days, in Cork, and after a few days stay there proceeded to Bristol. Appreciates his expressions of kind regard toward him expressed in his two letters. Feels kindly towards the people of New England in spite of their ungrateful ways. Was graciously received by the King and ministers of state. Is surprised that he did not understand why he left, after the people took up arms against him. Will endeavour to return and to make them a happy people. To Colman, British envoy at Florence, Italy.

[London.] Has received the marble tables and bronze statues which he sent, and Methuen also has received the pictures. Has called on Riccardi's son, but found him too ill to take part in civilities. Wishes he might have been more successful in procuring for him a better position but thinks it unlikely that much can be done while he is still so young. Lord Scarbo thinks the position as Envoy to Turin might be secured but Saphorin declares that it is far too dangerous a station. Thinks it possible that Mrs. Colman might join him in Italy soon; her tought of the expense being the only factor that hinders her. [Leicester Square, London.] Has heard that several ships have reached Boston, but does not know about Mr. Gray's brig. Planned to mark the provisions he is sending for G: Robinson, but has since heard that G: Howe has countermanded the troops from proceeding to Halifax and so he will ship the goods by Major Smelt. Mentions Mr. Wilkins and his one transport. Is finding it difficult to arrange for shipping provisions. Believes that the appointment of Lord Howe will be pleasing to the people at Boston. Mr. Lyde has returned from Portsmouth. Comments on the late Act of Parliament and the effect it will have on money affairs. Rej[illegible] that his family is well through the small pox scare[illegible]ises against sending money in a king's ship. Thinks it not prudent to write more about the moves of the government. To Isaac Winslow, his brother-in-law, at Boston.

[Leicester Square, London.] Major Urquhart has reached London with letters by which he is glad to learn that his friend is well and has received the supplies which were sent to Halifax. Hears that more supplies may be sent through Captain Wallis. Has no way of sending the shoes to him. Mrs. Wilkins cannot provide the means. It does not seem wise to plan on sending live stock nor money. In London the account of the defeat at Quebec is generally believed. Comments on the contest at the polls for Chamberlain (Wilkes and Hopkins). Has concluded that Mr. Borland can best take the shoes and other supplies which he ho[illegible]ll be shared with Mrs. Bromfield. A.L.S. 3p. 9 x [illegible] in.

Apprehensive for his plan of obtaining the benefaction on that account. Believes that a wholly Republican legislature would effect a radical change in the system of education. [Written from ?] Though conscious of the impropriety of making suggestions to the Committee, yet feels that the Vice-Presidency of the Society should have been recognized in some more particular manner. Notes the kindnesses rendered to him by the Dukes of Northumberland and Richmond, of Lord Romney and Mr. Marsh, in obtaining for him the sitting of the Prince of Wales. Relates how the Earl of Radnor helped him financially at the time he was robbed of such a large sum of money. Hopes that there is yet time for the Committee to arrange for a recognition other than the "common circular letter to the members of the Society and [illegible] public in general." To Mr.Arnot, Clerkenwell Close.

[Written from "Q.S.P." Queen Square Place ? London] Encloses a letter which "a somebody" left with him with the request that it be forwarded. His secret, so far as anything he may have done, remains inviolate; indeed, wishes his first intimation had not been followed by another until he "had thought proper to revoke the injunction". Will make a search for the letters which he desires. Was disappointed at not seeing him on Wednesday; had expected him and had invited a gentleman who wished much to see him. His brother was also there. Will expect him the next Wednesday. A.L.S. 1p. 8 x 6 1/2 in.
